

COLORADO IS COMING BACK

Will Soon Be Enrolled in Republican Ranks Once More.

A. M. STEVENSON ON THE OUTLOOK

National Commitment Feels Very Hopeful of Redeeming His State from the Control of Fusion Next Year.

"We watched Nebraska's late senatorial contest with keenest interest, and I presume Nebraska is watching Colorado's action with much the same feeling," said Hon. A. M. Stevenson of Denver at the Her Grand hotel yesterday.

Mr. Stevenson has long been conspicuous in Colorado politics and is particularly so at this time, when he is considered among senatorial possibilities.

"The Nebraska contest was ended, I thought, very happily, although it seemed to me and to most of those who watched it from across state boundary lines that Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Thompson were the ones to whom the offices really belonged.

"In the Colorado contest to be waged there will be, to start with, a free-for-all plan, and to make any definite forecast now would be useless, for the legislature is still in doubt, the half of the senate membership so far elected being of democratic complexion.

"Next fall our republican energy will be poured to the possibilities of electing a republican governor despite free silver, to which a certain demagogic element is still trying to hold the people. In this again, there will be evident the fact that Colorado has more statesmen than any other state in the union of the same population.

"Candidates for Governor.

PAYS THE JUDGMENT IN FULL

Swift and Company Settle with Frank Holmbeck After Eight Years' Fight.

After a fight of eight years Swift and Company yesterday paid in full the judgment against it of $9,925.73 in favor of Frank Holmbeck for personal injuries sustained while defendant was in the employ of plaintiff. The case has a varied history of reversals, appeals, remandings and re-trials.

Swift and Company appealed the case to the supreme court, where the judgment was reversed. Holmbeck moved for a rehearing and this was denied, but the case was remanded back to the district court for trial.

The matter finally came up in 1899 and on May 27 of that year a second verdict was secured, this time for $11,500. The judgment for the amount followed in June. The defendant this time carried the case up on error and the supreme court again reversed the judgment.

Plaintiff asked for a rehearing, which was granted. As a result the supreme court on rehearing affirmed the judgment, and ordered a remittitur of $4,000. Finally, on November 12 last, the mandate of the supreme court was filed in the district court here and yesterday Holmbeck received his money.

CROWELL'S CASE GOES OVER

Judge Munger Not Anxious to Bring Smallpox Infected Red Men to Omaha.

United States Deputy Marshal James Allan came in from Bancroft, Neb., Tuesday night, having in custody George Crowell, a farmer whose home is nine miles east of the town and who is charged with selling liquor to Indians of the Omaha reservation in south Thurston county, just across the line from his farm in Burt county.

Crowell will be released on furnishing $500 bail, which he is amply able to do, and his case goes over to the May term.

One reason for the deferment is the fact that Judge Munger has no desire to bring to Omaha and into his court those noble red men of the Omaha reservation when their neighbors, the Winnebagos, immediately to the north, have smallpox still among them.

DEBATE ON CONSOLIDATION

Editors of Weekly Papers Talk Before Real Estate Exchange.

IDEAS ON THE QUESTION EXCHANGED

No Especial Opposition to Plan, but Divergence of Views as to the Details and Method of Procedure.

The meeting of the Real Estate exchange yesterday was one of the largest ever held by the organization, the focus of the presence of the publishers of weekly papers. Its discussion of the subject of the change in the form of municipal government being the cause.

J. S. Knox, on behalf of the taxation committee, briefly explained the position of the exchange on the subject, saying that the exchange had no grievance against any one of the cities or counties, simply believing that less expense would result for a consolidation of the governments.

The exchange has no pet theory or plan, but simply for the idea of a reduction of the expenses of government.

J. G. Kelly of the South Omaha Journal-Stockman said that he could see no disadvantage to come from consolidation; that everything to be said must be said in its favor, and that poor business policy is shown in maintaining two city governments.

He said that the combination would result in better postal facilities at less expense to the government.

J. E. Regan, representing the Quill, said that the policy of the Quill would be directed by the County Democracy and that the club members residing in the city favored the idea and that all of the opposition came from the members from the country and South Omaha. The club has taken no position in the matter, but the speaker believed that opposition is only due to lack of information. He said a plan should be outlined before newspaper discussion is taken up.

Clement Chase of the Excelsior said that he thought the question of constitutional limitation should be settled; that it is interesting to note that men not usually seen in public gatherings are here taking part and that an answer to the question propounded by Mr. Kountze should be answered before practical steps can be taken.

Leaving the question of consolidation, Mr. Chase took up the question of the proposed new hotel to be erected by P. E. Her. "There is nothing," he said, "that helps the retail trade like a constant flow of visitors, and nothing stimulates this flow like good hotels."

C. Vincent of the Central Farmer said that he favored the plan of consolidation and that when the people are united on the subject the means to carry it out will be found.
